

1 May 2025

Ambassador: Cambodia is considered a highly safe and rapidly developing tourist destination in all sectors by British tourists and business people

Khmer Times

Dominic Williams, UK Ambassador to Cambodia, stated yesterday that Cambodia is considered a tourist destination with high safety and security and rapid development in all sectors by tourists and businessmen from the United Kingdom and internationally.

Mr Williams made his remarks during a courtesy call on Huot Hak, Minister of Tourism, yesterday.

The aim of the meeting was to discuss work on changing perspectives and strategies to strengthen and expand cooperation in the tourism sector, providing favorable conditions and attracting more tourists from the United Kingdom.

During the meeting, Mr. Huot Hak and the British Ambassador discussed focusing on the development of connectivity infrastructure, tourism destinations, travel facilitation, promotion strategies, Cambodian tourism potential to the world and the United Kingdom, sustainable tourism, participation in training, capacity development in the tourism sector, joint collaboration to help promote direct flights between Cambodia and the United Kingdom, and further development of eco-tourism, as well as helping to promote the filming or production of films in Cambodia by famous producers from the United Kingdom or the world.

In addition, the Minister and the Ambassador expressed their shared view that tourism is a factor that helps the relationship between the countries and people of Cambodia and the United Kingdom become closer and more friendly. And the increase in the number of tourists from the United Kingdom to Cambodia from year to year is due to the factors of peace, political stability, good public order in Cambodia, which Cambodia is considered a tourist destination with high safety and rapid development in all sectors by tourists and businessmen from the United Kingdom and internationally.
